Big Tech and Sacramento Burn Local Newspapers (Again)

Behind closed doors, Google avoids payment mandates in California with surprise deal that excluded local print newspaper concessions.

n a last-minute, closed-door typical Sacramento deal that surprised many, Google secured an agreement late Wednesday with California lawmakers to circumvent two legislative bills that would have required it and other tech companies to compensate local newsrooms in the state for using their content.

Instead, late on Wednesday, Assemblywoman Buffy Wicks, sponsor of one of the bills the deal bypassed, negotiated the agreement with Google, which California Governor Gavin Newsome prompted. The full details of the new deal remain vague.

Rebuild Local News, an organization founded by Steve Waldman to champion finding new ways to lend financial support to local news nationwide, consulted on the legislative bills. The nonprofit said, "The deal [will] apparently provide $45 million ($15 million from Google; $30 million from the government) in new funding in the first year for local newsrooms, and some support still to be determined in out years."

The deal was far less than Google's $60-65 million oneyear agreement to support Canadian newsrooms. The statement calculated California local newsrooms could receive somewhere between $7,000 and $10,000 per editorial employee if the deal aligns with what had been drafted in the sidelined legislative bills.

California Senator Steven Glazer, whose bill SB 1327 would have imposed a tax on major tech companies to provide broader and potentially more substantial support to California news organizations, was notably left out of the talks despite being a co-sponsor of Wicks' bill. Glazer's SB1327, which also aimed to address the impact of tech platforms' advertising practices on newsrooms, would have required a two-thirds majority to pass the legislature and was seen as a more direct challenge to tech

Central Basin Sees $3 Million Drop in Cash Reserves After Attorney Was Put in Charge

By Brian Hews

An examination of Central Basin board meeting financial records by Los Cerritos Community News has revealed a massive drop in cash reserves and cash on hand, the drop occurring after Burke, Williams, and Sorenson attorney Victor Ponto took over as general manager of the Commerce-based water agency.

The appointment of Ponto was triggered by the illegal move by certain CB Board Members to place GM Dr. Alex Rojas on paid administrative leave in February of this year.

The agency's financial position is reported monthly during board meetings, which outline "unrestricted investment portfolio" funds; unrestricted funds can be used for any general expense of the agency.

Central Basin records show that in January 2024, cash in the bank was $2.3 million, rising to $2.4 million in February when Rojas was placed on leave.

Just one month later, the cash in the bank dropped by nearly

Artesia Welcomes Its First Cannabis Store

By Brian Hews

Artesia will officially welcome its first cannabis retailer, Off The Charts (OTC), on September 6, 2024; OTC has been open since July. Located just off the 91 freeway and Pioneer, OTC is "the largest family-owned and operated commercial cannabis consortium in California." Artesia officials are excited about potential tax revenues from OTC.

The tax revenue generated by an average retail cannabis business for a city can vary widely depending on several factors, including tax rates and the overall market size.

Many cities impose a local excise tax on cannabis sales, ranging from 1% to 15% of gross sales. Cannabis sales are also subject to standard sales tax, which is on Artesia's November ballot for an increase.

Depending on annual revenues a successful retail can-

The 2024 Assessment Roll - La Mirada

By Jeff Prang Los Angeles County Assessor

It's that time of year again when my Office undertakes its most important function of the fiscal year that lays the ground work for the very property taxes that pay for our vital public ser vices: The Assessment Roll.

In fact, it's a Constitutional mandate

The Roll for 2024 has been closed as of June 30 and it reflects growth for La Mirada as well as the rest of the County.

First off, let me say this comprehensive tally values more than 2.5 million real estate parcels in Los Angeles County and results in the very tax dollars that goes to pay for vital public services, such as healthcare, police, fire, schools, and even librarians, to name just a few.

As I mentioned, I am constitutionally mandated to close the Roll by the end of the Fiscal Year on June 30. As a point of reference, my Fiscal Year runs from July 1 to June 30.

I am pleased to announce that the 2024 Assessment Roll has a total net value of $2.10 trillion, indicating the 14th year of consecutive growth. The 2024 Roll also grew by $96.70 billion (or 4.8%) over 2023. That value places about $20 billion to be used for those public services I just mentioned.

Locally, La Mirada for 2024 came in at $9.32 billion for taxable values, which is a 4.0% increase over last year's numbers.

That includes 13,592 single-family homes, 62 apartment complexes, 472 commercial-industrial parcels for a grand total of 14,126 taxable properties. Yes, it's a solid growth at $9.32 billion

Some basics: The Roll, as it is known, contains the assessed value of all real estate and business personal property in the County's 88 cities along with the unincorporated areas. It also breaks down the number of single-family residential homes, apartments and commercial-industrial parcels.

This year's Roll comprises 2.39 million real estate parcels as well as business assessments countywide. That includes 1.89 million single-family homes, 250 thousand apartment complexes, 248 thousand commercial and industrial properties and more than 163 thousand business property assessments.

Since the Roll is the inventory for all taxable property in the County, it can provide some insight into the health of the real estate market. The Roll is also driven in large measure by real property sales, which added $53 billion to the Roll as compared with 2023; the CPI adjustment mandated by Prop. 13 added an additional $39 billion; and new construction added $9 billion.

Finally, to say this has been a challenging couple of years is an understatement and the fact that property values continue to grow is certainly good news and testament to the viability of the region. A full list of assessment growth amounts and parcel counts for cities and unincorporated areas is available here.

Filipino Americans for Harris-Walz at Democratic National Convention

FILIPINO AMERICANS FOR HARRIS WALZ (FAFHW) a multi-generational volunteer group, including California Attorney General Rob Bonta, at the convention.

CHICAGO, IL - While the official theme of Day Three of the Democratic National Convention (DNC) was "A Fight for Our Freedoms," what resonated even more throughout the day was the theme of educating and uplifting a future generation of leaders. It was a powerful testament to the values that drive Filipino Americans freedom, community, and the passing of knowledge from one generation to the next. This commitment to coaching, mentoring, and educating future leaders is at the heart of our work at Filipino Americans for Harris Walz (FAFHW).

Day Three started with FAFHW volunteers of all ages actively participating in another round of key DNC Convention Caucus & Council Meetings. The day's meetings focused on youth engagement, women's rights, and LGBTQ+ advocacy. These sessions were essential in shaping strategies that align with the values of our community and the broader movement for justice and equality. The discussions during these caucuses underscored the importance of protecting our freedoms while empowering the next generation to continue this advocacy.

The energy continued to build during the keynote speeches at the DNC, culminating in the official acceptance of the Vice Presidential nomination by Governor Tim Walz of Minnesota. Known affectionately as "Coach Walz," his career as an educator and high school football coach has been dedicated to training the next generation to rise to the challenges before them. In his acceptance speech, Governor Walz reflected, "It was those players and my students who inspired me to run for Congress. They saw in me what I had hoped to instill in them: a commitment to the common good, an understanding that we're all in this together, and the belief that a single person can make a real difference for their neighbors."

Filipino Americans for Harris Walz framed its volunteer program around mentorship and building the next generation of leaders in community organizing and mobilizing. FAFHW has developed a multigenerational coalition, made up of Senior Advisors and Chairs who have organized on a national level for presidential campaigns for decades while serving as mentors to volunteers of all ages from students to retirees. "This year, we proudly mobilized a record number of over 50 Filipino American volunteers on-site from across the country. Volunteering at the DNC is a once-in-a-lifetime experience and an invaluable opportunity to connect with like-minded people. The FAFHW volunteer program at the DNC aimed to serve as a bootcamp for volunteer training for field operations leading up to November," said FAFHW National Co-Chair Genevieve Jopanda who oversees FAFHW volunteer operations for DNC activities.

One of the most memorable moments of Day Three was the Kasama Namin Si Kamala celebration, hosted by FAFHW. This event was more than just a gathering—it was a culmination of everything Filipino Americans have worked for this week. The hard work, energy, and dedication poured into this campaign were on full display, reflecting just how much this moment means to our community.

At the celebration, California Attorney General Rob Bonta continued the vibrant energy of joy that has been building throughout the week. He expressed his deep pride and gratitude for the volunteers, saying, "The energy started high and has only gotten higher all week. Thank you, I'm proud of you, I'm proud of us, and I'm proud of all that you've done. Thank you for being here, for coming long distances, giving up your time and resources to coalesce and arrive." His words resonated deeply with the audience, reinforcing the idea that our fight for a better future is fueled by the love we have for our Filipino community and the freedoms we cherish.

Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist and activist Jose Antonio Vargas also addressed the attendees, emphasizing what a privilege it is to vote and the responsibility we have to do so, especially on behalf of the more than 300,000 undocumented citizens actively contributing to America who cannot vote right now, many of whom are Filipino Americans. His remarks were a poignant reminder of the stakes in this election and the importance of ensuring that every eligible voice is heard.

As we head into Day Four, the final day of the convention, excitement is building for Kamala Harris's official acceptance of the Democratic nomination for President. Our work this week has not only been about celebrating our achievements, but also about laying the foundation for a future where the next generation of Filipino Americans is empowered and ready to lead.###

Filipino Americans for Harris Walz (FAFHW) is a multi-generational volunteer group of U.S. Filipino American Citizens who support and endorse Vice President Kamala Harris for President and Governor Tim Walz for Vice President and Democrats who are running for Federal, State and local elective office. It is the officially recognized AANHPI affinity group by the Harris for President Campaign.

$300,000. Then in April, the cash in the bank dropped $1.1 million, followed by a $100,000 drop in May.

According to sources, Central Basin makes money every month due to dependable recycled water sales, so the $1.4 million decrease in cash is highly unusual.

In addition to the cash in bank total, the balance of CB's California Treasurer's Local Investment Fund, a fund where the agency contributes periodically to earn interest, saw a $1 million drop in value in March 2024, just weeks before Ponto left as GM.

For comparison, Rojas, hired in August 2020, started with a $14 million total and ended the 20-'21 fiscal year at $15 million. For' 21-'22, the agency ended the year with $18 million, a total increase due to the sale of CB's building in Commerce.

For 22-23, the agency went from $17 million to $13 million, paying down debts, which increased its all-important Standard and Poor's credit rating.

In January 2024, the fund was at $13.5 million; Rojas was placed on leave in early February.

As of June 2024, the total fund is down $3 million to $11.5 million.

giants like Google and Meta.

The Media Guild of the West, representing unions such as the Los Angeles Times Guild, Southern California News Group and the Long Beach Media Guild, also strongly criticized the deal. In a statement released Wednesday, the Guild described the agreement as "undemocratic and secretive," emphasizing that "not a single organization representing journalists" was involved in the deal. The Guild expressed deep frustration: "After two years of advocacy for strong antimonopoly action to start turning around the decline of local newsrooms, we are left almost without words."

Danielle Coffey, president and CEO of the News/Media Alliance, a trade group representing news publishers, echoed these concerns, criticizing Google as a "dominant monopoly" that profits from repackaging news content without adequately compensating publishers.

The recent antitrust ruling by the Department of Justice against Google, which found the company had violated laws through its search and advertising practices, further underscores the urgency of addressing the power imbalance between tech giants and news organizations.

Witness the way the tech giants acted after the bills were introduced.

Both California bills targeted the most prominent tech platforms — Google, Meta and possibly others — based on how they share and link to newsroom content and earn revenue from the content. This resulted in both Google and Meta threatening to stop linking to or sharing California news sites, leading into the June votes that pushed the legislation forward.

Google and Meta have used this tactic in other jurisdictions to fight against similar legislative efforts, including in Australia and Canada. The results showed that each of those countries still saw laws passed requiring the platforms to contribute funds to news publishers, but this resulted in concessions by lawmakers to mollify the tech powerhouses.

In May 2023, before June, when both Wicks' AB886 and Glazer's 1327 passed major votes to move forward, a Meta spokesperson said if CJPA became law, it would pull news from both Facebook and Instagram.

In a blog post in April, Google's VP of global news partnerships, Jaffer Zaidi, announced that the platform would begin running a test run to block California news sites related to CJPA. He said other support for California news outlets was also on the chopping block: "Until there's clarity on California's regulatory environment, we're also pausing further investments in the California news ecosystem, including new partnerships through Google News Showcase, our product and licensing program for news organizations, and planned expansions of the Google News Initia-

The threat to restrict news sites in the state scared many, as did the idea of ending the Google News Initiative (GNI). GNI has provided grants and supportive services to local newsrooms worldwide since 2019, amounting to what it says is $300 million in support.

At the time the News/Media Alliance joined CNPA in calling on state authorities, the Federal Trade Commission and the U.S. Department of Justice to investigate Google's threats to shut down news in California: "Google is violating federal law in blocking or impeding their (Californians) ability to find news that they rely upon for their business, their prosperity, their pleasure, their democracy and, sometimes, their lives."

The backdrop to this is several high-profile federal antitrust lawsuits against Google that have been going through the courts, examining whether the tech giant is a monopoly and if its advertising products constitute unfair practice. In early August, a federal judge ruled that Google's app store violated antitrust laws and created a monopoly.

In June, before the votes on SB1327 & AB886, another federal judge ruled on a separate antitrust lawsuit to determine if Google's advertising practices violate federal law could move forward. That lawsuit is supported by several State Attorneys General, including California's, and is slated to begin on September 9. Both were seen as significant losses for the tech giant.

The devil is in the details

Starbuck Cerritos Readies for Opening

DIET LATTE: The lights are on and the signs are up. The drive-thru Starbucks on Bloomfield and Del Amo is opening this year. LCCN wants to thank Cerritos Planning Commissioner Gloria Pulido for being the only Planning Commissioner to vote for this Starbucks which will add jobs, revenue, and convenience.

throughout the negotiations on the bills and now with the current private-public deal has been whether there will be enough or any money for the many smaller, independent local news organizations that serve community needs.

There were changes to the bills to support smaller organizations, including allowing funding for smaller organizations to be compensated to pay freelancers. According to those familiar with it, that concession isn't included in the current deal.

Chris Krewson, executive director, LION

LION Publishers, a trade association supporting small independent news publishers with 575 newsroom members — including 74 in California- endorsed the new deal, issuing a statement included in Wicks' announcement. Chris Krewson, LION's executive director, said, "The work of local independent publishers is essential to a well-functioning democracy, and this new public-private partnership provides immediate and needed relief. Lawmakers should be proud of this program, which builds on California's innovative Local News Fellowship with millions of new dollars in a way that prioritizes small publishers and those serving underrepresented

Krewson acknowledged to E&P in mid-August that, based on what we knew about the limitations imposed by the legislative bills, some of its smaller members may not qualify for support. He said, "Twenty-four (California members) earn less than $50k per year, and many of those are under a year old, so also would not qualify for that reason." It remains unclear if the current deal would make room for these types of news outlets.

Dana Amihere, founder, AfroLA

Who would be able to access support and how that would be decided were the concerns for Dana Amihere, the founder and executive director of the award-winning nonprofit newsroom AfroLA, when E&P spoke with her days before the deal was announced to get her opinion on the legislative efforts. At the time, she said she was pessimistic about the positive impact on small newsrooms if the bills were to pass.

Amihere said what bothered her about the process of formulating the legislation was that large corporate newsrooms and those owned by hedge funds, along with national organizations with powerful lobbying efforts, have been the ones to influence the process. However, smaller independent newsrooms, like AfroLA, that are struggling and are entrenched in their communities weren't consulted in any real way about what's needed. "It's not about us or what will actually create a stronger news ecosystem. Hearing 'We're saving local news' makes me wonder if anyone is asking how to build something better than what we've had. I'm not convinced of that."

Krewson told E&P that LION met with its members about the legislation a few weeks ago to keep them in the loop, and he said some of his members were asked and did lend their support to the current deal. What Krewson said he's heard from his members is they wanted more help in getting their voices heard in these processes, "We heard clearly from them that LION as an org[anization] could best support them by more actively proposing solutions that would help them first, which is part of the reason we're working toward a full-time role at LION in that regard."

As the legislative session nears its end, the future of local journalism in California remains uncertain, with ongoing debates over whether this agreement will provide the necessary support or if further action is needed to protect the industry from the growing influence of tech platforms.

Glazer told reporters the deal "seriously undercuts our work toward a long-term solution to rescue independent journalism." His office issued a statement on their website late Wednesday: "Despite the good intentions of the parties involved, this proposal does not provide sufficient resources to bring independent news gathering in California out of its death spiral."

Coming from the traditional retail and real estate business, husband and Wife Owner-Operators Norman and Darline Yousif have built OTC from the ground up.

Their first cannabis business opened just after the enactment of a legalized framework in Vista, CA. The store experienced immediate success; consequently, the Yousifs used residual income from the Vista store and their real estate ventures to open a store in Winterhaven and two additional retailers in Palm Springs, one of which features a "consumption lounge" that was among the first legal lounges in all of California.

OTC now boasts twenty retail locations all over California from San Diego County up to the Bay Area and expanded outside of California opening two stores in New Mexico and another store in Ohio, which was recently among the first wave of businesses to historically begin selling recreational cannabis.

OTC is expected to generate significant income for the city of Artesia.

CERRITOS WILL BE TESTED BY INEXPERIENCED SQUAD WHILE GATEWAY LEAGUE GETS STRONGER

ÎKASA

By Loren Kopff @LorenKopff on X

Because of the abundance of varsity inexperience that Cerritos High has this season, there could be a changing of the guard in the 605 League, leaving the door open for Whitney High, which will be well-experienced, and others. Don't expect anyone from the Gateway League to win all eight matches as the addition of Norwalk High from the Mid-Cities League creates an even more competitive league.

ARTESIA PIONEERS

11-9 overall last season, 6-4 in the 605 League, third place, lost to Wildwood High in four sets in the Division 7 first round playoffs.

32-76 overall last five seasons Head coach: Tommy Dube (fifth season, 32-76)

Last time missed the playoffs: 2022 Last season was one of milestones for Artesia High. It was the third time in over 27 seasons the Pioneers had advanced to the playoffs and the 11 victories, plus the winning season were both firsts over that same time. In addition, head coach Tommy Dube is now the second longest tenured head coach the program has had since 2000, and the winningest during that

Half of last season's team graduated and of the three seniors on this season's team, only outside hitter Rylee Asumbrado has varsity experience while junior outside hitter Djulianne Goze is the only other returning player.

CERRITOS DONS

19-5 overall last season, 10-0 in the 605 League, first place, lost to Culver City High in three sets in the Division 5 first round playoffs.

109-28 overall last five seasons Head coach: David Cuthbert (11th season, 179-77)

Last time missed the playoffs: 2002 It was status quo for Cerritos with the program's fifth straight undefeated 605 League season. But 2023 marked the fifth time since 2012 the Dons were knocked out in the first round at home. Throughout the 50 league matches played since 2018, the Dons are 150-2 in sets played as head coach David Cuthbert continues to add to his mark as the program's winningest head coach. The two sets the Dons lost came in 2021 to Oxford Academy and Whitney. Last season, the queens of the league had to earn all 19 victories as they were decimated with injuries early on.

"Injuries are normal for us," said Cuthbert, "We continue to try and build a program from top to bottom across three teams [in our program] so that any single loss can be somewhat covered. It's never easy as some players are harder to replace, but there is no sense in focusing on what could have been."

Cerritos returns only three players this season, but only senior defensive specialist Gaby Colombo was healthy the entire season. The other two coming back are senior outside hitter/opposite hitter Brooke Lozano and senior middle blocker/opposite hitter Sophia Toney. However, Cuthbert said he's excited about a quartet freshmen who plan to play conof > siderable minutes. Those are setter Kylie Cruz, utility player Leah Hidalgo, middle > > Martinez and outside hitter Ally Vernon. He added that there are high expectations for his sophomore class-middle blocker Kaylin Cho, oppo-

blocker Miranda

site hitter Ceana Merino, outside hitter Avery Updike and middle blocker Eunice Zhang. Cerritos will have a large squad that includes five other seniors, bringing the number of varsity players to 16.

"Concerns for the season are how young we are and having to construct a complete rebuild," said Cuthbert. "With a senior laden group, last year's performance was pretty steady, and we knew what to expect from each player. This year, we have a lot of growing to do, which is a concern, but also incredibly exciting. Summer practices have been fun and competitive as there are so many positions up for grabs."

While an ideal lineup has yet to be determined, Cuthbert is going to start the season with a 6-2 formation to give as many players as possible an opportunity to show what they are capable of.

GAHR GLADIATORS

22-12 overall last season, 3-5 in the Gateway League, tied for third place, lost to Glendale High in three sets in the Division 6 quarterfinals.

79-53 overall last five seasons Head coach: Charity Dennis (fourth season, 43-40)

Last time missed the playoffs: 2022 Gahr High reached the 20-win plateau for the first time since the late 1990s and advanced to the quarterfinals for the first time since 2002. The Gladiators return five players with senior opposite hitter/ outside hitter Kyla Jones the top offensive threat. Senior middle blocker/outside hitter Alexis Contreras, senior defensive specialist/libero Layla Garcia, junior middle blocker/opposite hitter Jessalyn Ecevedo and junior outside hitter/opposite hitter Genesis Islas are the other returning players.

With only eight league matches, Gahr has already participated in the Pacifica Tournament and will later be in the Whittier Tournament and the Bellflower/ Gahr Tournament plus several non-league matches.

You Can Call Them Lakewood Public Safety Officers Now

NEW NAME: In July, Lakewood 'rebranded' its Community Safety Officers as Public Safety Officers because PSOs are part of the city's Public Safety Department; the move reflects the integral role PSOs play in ensuring public safety within the community.

Lakewood's Public Safety Officers collaborate closely with Deputy Sheriffs stationed at the Lakewood Sheriff's Station while maintaining their status as Lakewood civilian employees.

Lakewood currently employs seven dedicated PSOs who respond to a variety of criminal, non-criminal and traffic collision incidents to take reports, address quality of life issues and violations of the Lakewood Municipal Code.

PSOs provide added eyes and ears on patrol, and take fingerprints and DNA at crime scenes, a service level most cities don't provide.

That extra evidence gives Sheriff's investigators added tools for finding and prosecuting criminals. The overall support that PSOs provide Deputy Sheriffs in Lakewood is a key reason why Deputy Sheriff response time is faster in Lakewood than the average in L.A. County.

Residents are asked keep an eye for PSOs out and about through the city. PSOs can be distinctly identified by their blue uniform polo shirt with Lakewood patches on the shoulders and black pants.

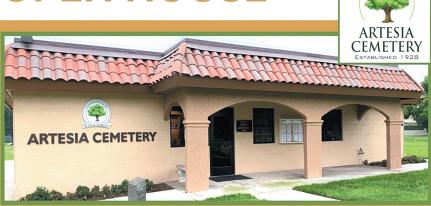

They work seven days a week, between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. generally, and drive white Ford Fusions with the wording 'Public Safety--Partners with Our Community' written on the sides of the vehicle.

Residents cannot directly call for PSO assistance as they are assigned calls by dispatchers at the Lakewood Sheriff's Station. If you need help, call the Lakewood Sheriff's Station at 562-623-3500 and a Deputy Sheriff or PSO will respond to your call, depending on who is best for your need.

Want to meet Lakewood's PSOs? Join the city's Public Safety Department at their next event. Visit the Public Safety Events page for the calendar and other details.

LA MIRADA LOOKING TO GET BACK TO GOOD OLD DAYS WITH EXPERIENCED GROUP COMING RETURNING

By Loren Kopff

@LorenKopff on X

LA MIRADA MATADORES

3-7 overall last season, 2-3 in the Gateway League, fourth place 23-25 overall last five seasons Head coach: Lucas Mealy (second season, 3-7)

Lost 16 seniors out of 55 players from 2023 opening day roster

Last time made the playoffs: 2021

2024 schedule, opponent's record last season in parethesis.

Aug. 23	@ Cypress (7-5)
Aug. 30	Western (11-2)
Sept. 6	Tesoro (5-5)
Sept. 13	@ LB Jordan (7-4)
Sept. 19	@ La Habra (7-5)
Sept. 26	BYE
Oct. 4	Downey (8-3)
Oct. 11	@ Dominguez (6-5)
Oct. 18	@ Mayfair (12-4)
Oct. 25	Bellflower (7-4)
Nov. 1	Warren (11-3)

Head coach Lucas Mealy knew what was in store for him as a first-time high school varsity head coach when he took over La Mirada High last season. With two dozen players graduating from the 2022 team, others transferring out and playing five teams who won at least 10 games in 2022, it was going to be a tall task to get to the CIF-Southern Section playoffs for the first time since 2021.

Mealy still had an expectation of getting to the playoffs, even though the Matadores began the season with four straight losses, being blanked in the first half in the first three games. But now that he has had a full year under his belt, and the school finally has its renovated Goodman Stadium up and running, the Matadores are looking to bounce back and have a 180 degree turnaround.

"We had a lot of really good seniors last year, especially in some key spots," said Mealy. "We had a senior center, we had three senior safeties, we had a big time senior tight end. We had some guys who did some things really well and I did think that we could pull out some of the wins.

"We wanted to be playoff-bound," he continued. "That's my goal every year. Obviously, I would love to win league championships, but that's not the focal point for me. It's getting ourselves into the playoffs, and letting our kids show what they can do from there."

Mealy added that the team battled in every game against a challenging schedule that included the likes of Cypress High, Servite High, Yorba Linda High and of course, the monster that is the Gateway League. But La Mirada showed progress towards the end of the season. On top of that, he was pleased with how the players responded to the adversity, which ranged from, in his words, practicing on a Tuesday in the heat to taking the bus to and from John Glenn High and going up against a tough team on a Friday night.

OFFENSE

Last season was not your typical La Mirada team as it scored 210 points, went over 21 points three times and was held to single digits twice. Mealy said the offense got better as the year progressed, scoring 116 points in the five league contests. The players had to learn a new system with the coaching change, which was the shotgun. The Matadores were running with three wide receivers, one tight end and one running back for about 99 percent of the time.

"We had a lot of things in place that were very difficult from an offensive line perspective," said Mealy. "But the expectations are always to score more points than the opponent, and we didn't do that in seven out of 10 games. I think this year we'll be a lot more explosive. I think this year, there is a far better understanding of what we want to do as a staff and as a team. The coaches know exactly what I want when I'm calling a play or how I want [the players] to run a route or block a scheme. We definitely need to do better, but I also think that we will. The experience is a year greater now, and we're going to have a lot more success, I feel, on the offensive end."

Returning
as quarterback is junior Santino Garcia, who completed 153 of 292 passes last season for 1,900 yards and tossed 14 touchdowns, but also threw 13 interceptions.
Mealy says Garcia's improvement during the offseason is night and day since last fall. With a new head coach and a new quarterback last season, Garcia had an idea of how Mealy wanted him to do things. This season, the signal caller knows the offense like the back of his hand, according to Mealy. Garcia's backup will be sophomore Isaac Cuevas.

"There were a few times last year where he had lump sums of picks," said Mealy. "It wasn't like he was throwing two picks every game. He's definitely improved; we've tweaked the system a little bit to meet his needs. We're still going to run up tempo, no huddle. We'll still do a lot of [run, pass, option], which is what we did [last season]. We're giving him the ability to take some vertical shots. I also think we're going to have a far better running game."

There's evidence to prove that Mealy's prediction of the running game being 'far better' is true.

Although junior Jordan Lauago (55 carries, 254 yards, one touchdown, 25 receptions, 500 yards, five touchdowns) leads all returners in ground yardage, he is being moved to more of a slot role. According to Mealy, he'll be used like Deebo Samuel of the San Francisco 49ers, getting the ball in the middle of the field, in the screens, on the edge and get carries in the backfield.

"He's a guy that we have to get the ball in his hands," said Mealy. "He's explosive, he's dynamic; he's just got a great feel for the game. He's going to be more of a slot receiver for us and definitely will get carries. But we want to get him in space as much as possible and allow him to utilize his talent and his skill for the game."

Seniors Madden Carino, who carried the pigskin a dozen times for 25 yards, is expected to get a lot of carries, and Nicholas Plascencia are the top running backs while senior transfers Drew Cobos (La Serna High) and Tuiono Tuifua (John Glenn High) will give the Matadores more depth in the backfield. Tuifua gained 1,425 yards and scored 14 touchdowns for the Eagles last season.

As good as the running game will be for the Matadores, equal attention must be given to the wide receiver corps, led by seniors wide receivers Max Rankin (20 receptions, 212 yards, three touchdowns) and Isaiah Robbins (32 receptions, 510 yards, four touchdowns), juniors wide receiver Aaron Castro (26 receptions, 254 yards, one touchdown) and Josiah Fregoso plus Cobos and Lauago. Sophomore Matthew Solorio will be the tight end, and the coaching staff has high expectations for him.

"Our receiving corps...we have studs in my opinion," said Mealy. "Now, we don't have a lot of size; you'll get Jordan, who is a slot receiver and is as good as it gets, good as advertised. He'll probably be better than advertised. There are a lot of people who are going to doubt him because of his size.

"We don't have the biggest wide receiver group," he continued. "But they have a great feel for it. They have speed;

what we're trying to do as far as the concepts go."
Senior Ryan Molina will be the left tackle, junior Genisis Afu will be the left guard, junior Noah Marquez
will be the center
while senior Mark Galindo moves
from center to right guard and senior

they understand

Adrian Otero will be the right tackle. Heading into the offseason, it was to be senior Elan Gomez, who played every snap last season. But he blew out his knee on the second day of spring ball.

DEFENSE

La Mirada's defense was not the best Matadores Nation has seen recently, allowing 316 points with seven opponents scoring over 25 points. But just like the offense, the defense figures to be better in 2024.

Senior Charlie Dowlin is the top returner on the defensive lineman and is the anchor up front, according to Mealy. The rest of the line is young-sophomores Amir McCalope and Patrick Stein, and freshman Christian Prado-but are up to the challenge and ready to go. Also getting some playing time on the line will be junior Isaiah Gonzalez.

"We're not going to be the biggest D-line, but I like what we have up front between the future that we're going to have with them and the seniors that we have down there," said Mealy.

In the secondary, the top cornerback, who is being heavily recruited by several colleges and already has an offer, will be Rankin. Junior J.J. Galvan seems to have the inside position for the second cornerback spot while Lauago, who is in the mix at cornerback, is also vying for one of the safety positions. Competing for the safety spot will also be senior Joshua Gonzalez and juniors Julian Alvarez, Emiliano Ramirez and Levi Reyes. Mealy considers the safety spot the unknown spot as La Mirada graduated it's three safeties.

Mealy believes the strength of the defense will be the linebackers, led by seniors Spencer Ammons and Gavin Dionne in the middle while sophomore Jacob Zatarian will get some reps with them. Mealy says the best thing for Zatarian is having Ammons and Dionne there to teach him for the next two seasons once they graduate.

"I think it's a three-layered thing," said Mealy of the defense. "I think Max in the back end, Gavin in the middle and then Charlie up front...and I also think Spencer; he's quiet but I definitely think those seniors are going to lead us on the defensive end. We have to score points; there's no doubt about it. I think we will, but we also have to get stops. I think those guys are really going to tell us a lot of what are fate holds."

SCHEDULE

La Mirada's schedule is once again not for the faint of heart as all 10 opponents had at least a .500 record with Mayfair High claiming the Division 7 title and Warren High losing in the Division 3 championship game while Western High advanced to the semifinals. La Mirada was blanked by Cypress in Mealy's debut, but it was scoreless after the first quarter and 14-0 at the half and only Tesoro High did not advance to the postseason. The meeting with Western will be the first regular season on the new field turf surface at Goodman Stadium.

The Matadores have not faced La Habra High and Tesoro since 2014, defeating both by 45-28 26-23 decisions.

"Cypress is going to be well-coached," said Mealy. "They have some guys; they did lose some seniors last year, but Cypress does a great job of reloading. Going over there [for] the first game of the year I think is good for our boys to be on the road and get that road travel out [of the way] early. Western is an incredibly good team. They have athletes galore and have some guys up front. We saw them in a couple of seven on seven's.

"But ultimately for me, when we were talking about our schedule, I wanted games that could go either way," he continued. "I think those first two games are going to be incredibly tough. They're in the same league; they battle each other year in and year out."

Following the bye week, La Mirada hosts a Downey High team that put up 51 points against the blue and gold in the final game of last season. Then comes two straight road games, the first against Dominguez High, whom the Matadores defeated 21-14 with all their points coming in the fourth quarter. The following week is against longtime nemesis from the old Suburban League, Mayfair. The Matadores have lost seven straight to the Monsoons after winning seven of the previous eight meetings.

"Once again, we're looking at getting to the playoffs," said Mealy. "We know Downey and Warren are Downey and Warren. Those guys are loaded, and Mayfair is coming off a CIF [championship]. Coach [Derek] Bedell over there does a great job. Dominguez is incredibly athletic and I know the coach over there is doing a really good job getting those guys coached up. And Bellflower is a team that's no rest for the weary. They're going to go out there and give you everything they have."

HOMECOMING

Last season, La Mirada drew Mayfair as its homecoming opponent and fell 35-21. The Monsoons led 14-7 at the half and pulled away in the third quarter with a two-touchdown performance. This season, the Matadores will host Downey on the festive night, hoping to avenge a 51-34 defeat in which the Vikings led 41-21 at the half. La Mirada has lost four straight games to Downey since 2018 with the closest decision coming in 2019, a 12-7 loss in the first round of the Division 4 playoffs. It was the second straight season the teams had met in the first round of the playoffs.

FINAL COMMENT

"I think it's going to be night and day from what we had last year," said Mealy. "I think we have a lot of players who understand from a scheme standpoint, whether it's offense, defense or even special teams, what we want to do and how we want to do it. We're conditioning in a brand new weightroom and we've had some really good growth from there. The expectation is to win games, now and I think with the stadium, the kids appreciate it."

NEWS AND NOTES FROM PRESS ROW

FOOTBALL SEASON FINALLY ARRIVES WHILE GIRLS FLAG FOOTBALL WRAPS UP SECOND WEEK OF ACTION

By Loren Kopff @LorenKopff on X

That one famous phrase of five words has officially arrived for many CIF-Southern Section schools, including the seven in the HMG-Community News realm. Are you ready for football? The answer, obviously, is yes, and whether you're prepared or still need another week or two to get healthy, eligible or work out any last minute kinks, Week Zero waits for nobody. Here is what is on tap, with two games slated for Aug. 22 and the rest on Friday.

FOOTBALL

Artesia High (8-5 in 2023) @ Long Beach Cabrillo (2-8)-Last season, Artesia won its first two games by a combined score of 109-6. Expect the Pioneers to roll all over the Jaguars in this contest. Cabrillo won its two games by a combined score of 85-6 but in its eight losses, managed only 60 points and was shutout twice. The two teams had a common opponent last season, which was Los Amigos High. The Pioneers won that contest 35-15 to move to 4-1 at the time while the Jags were edged 28-27, which began a seven-game losing streak.

The last time these teams faced each other was back in 2002, a 20-7 Cabrillo win. It was the fourth straight meeting as the Jags were put in the former Suburban League before finding its current home, the Moore League. Artesia won the 1999 contest 27-0 before falling 21-12 and 34-0 the next two seasons, respectively.

Prediction: Artesia 42, Cabrillo 14
Cerritos High (9-6) @ Buena Park
High (6-6)-This game was played on Aug. 22. Cerritos begins the season winners of seven of its last eight games with the lone loss coming to Wasco High in the CIF Division 6AA State championship game. The Dons got past the Coyotes 14-7 in last season's opener with Buena before the Dons scored twice in the second quarter. The 21 combined points were the third fewest in any Cerritos game.

The two teams had one common opponent last season, but not until the playoffs as Buena Park lost to Yucca Valley High 35-0 in the second round of the playoffs, who then fell to the Dons two weeks later 19-13 in overtime in the CIF-SS Division 12 title game. Both teams scored a lot in 2024 as Cerritos put up 371 points, 21 more than the Coyotes.

Cerritos has won two of the last three meetings in as many seasons. Prior to the 2021 game, the last time the teams met was in 2012, a 74-0 Coyotes win.

Prediction: Cerritos 35, Buena Park 17 GAME OF THE WEEK

Valley Christian High (3-7) @ Gahr High (7-4)-The battle for Artesia Blvd. with the 605 Freeway the dividing point resumes its short, quiet rivalry with the visitors seeking revenge after a heartbreaking 21-20 loss last season as a potential game-winning two-point conversion with no time remaining was unsuccessful. The win snapped a two-game slide to the Defenders, who won 42-9 in 2022 and 34-14 in 2021. Before that, Gahr had won four straight in the series.

The teams did not face a common opponent last season but will face Cerritos within the first two weeks of the season. Gahr's high scoring performance last season was 48-12 win at Santa Ana Valley High while V.C.'s best game was a 38-0 whitewash against Sierra Vista High.

Prediction: V.C. 28, Gahr 21 John Glenn High (6-4) @ Bassett High (5-5)-This game was played on Aug. 22. Despite the turnaround last season, by Glenn standards, the 2024 season opener comes with drama. Multiple negative comments on social media and emails from parents, and an opening day roster hovering around 20 players at the beginning of the week have put the Eagles at a disadvantage before the game even begins. Last season, Bassett edged the Eagles by one point, despite scoring 22 points in the fourth quarter. Before last season's opener, the teams had not met since 2012, a 26-12 Glenn victory.

Bassett's defense was solid last season, yielding 164 points. In fact, the 28 points given up to Glenn were tied for the most allowed in any game. The Olympians ended the season on a three-game losing streak following a four-game winning streak and all five losses were decided by a touchdown.

Glenn and Bassett had two common opponents last season as they both defeated Glendale High 46-6 and 10-7, respectively. Glenn also knocked off Pioneer High 28-17 while the Olympians defeated the Titans 26-20.

Prediction: Bassett 35, Glenn 14
La Mirada High (3-7) @ Cypress High (7-5)-La Mirada will be seeking to avenge a 28-0 season-opening loss to the Centurions last season, and by the offseason chatter around La Mirada, this game plans to be closer than last season's contest. It was one of three games the Matadores were held to under 20 points.

But La Mirada will have its hands full against a Cypress program that scored at least 20 points in all seven of its wins. When it was all said and done, the Division 6 quarterfinalists had scored 336 points while giving up 270 points.

Prediction: Cypress 28, La Mirada 21 Norwalk High (3-7) @ Montebello High (4-6)-For the first time since 2008, Norwalk will face Montebello, hoping to win a season opener for the first time since two seasons ago when it won eight straight games to begin that campaign. When the Lancers and Oilers last met, it was a resounding 65-20 win by Norwalk, the third straight victory in the series.

The Oilers weren't much of a scoring team last season, putting up less than 250 points, scoring over 20 points just twice in their six losses. In contrast, the Lancers reached the 25-point plateau six times.

Prediction: Norwalk 35, Montebello 14
2022 predictions: 47-19-1
2023 predictions: 53-19
GIRLS FLAG FOOTBALL

Last year was the introduction of girls flag football to the CIF-SS with 120 teams. Although that number wasn't enough to have a postseason, the 2024 season sees 270 teams participating in the new sport, which began its season on Aug. 10. Of local interest, Artesia lost to Norwalk 18-6 this past Tuesday, visited Cabrillo on Aug. 22 and will go to Westminster High and Bellflower High on Monday and Wednesday, respectively.

Gahr, one of two area teams to have a team last season, blanked Bell Gardens High 24-0 this past Wednesday and will host Narbonne High and St. Paul High on Saturday, Pioneer on Monday and Whittier High on Wednesday.

Glenn fell to Compton High 40-25 this past Monday in its first ever game. The Eagles will face La Mirada on Monday before hosting Anaheim High on Wednesday. La Mirada, the other area team to have a team last season, lost to Millikan High 38-0 this past Monday. The Matadores will also host Magnolia High on Tuesday.

Norwalk has been the busiest area team, splitting its first four games with wins over Artesia and Bell Gardens and losses to Cabrillo and Yorba Linda High. The Lancers were home to South El Monte High on Aug. 22 and will go to California High on Monday and Sunny Hills High on Wednesday while Whitney High plays its season opener on Wednesday at Katella High.

son, 25-41)

Last time made the playoffs: 2022
John Glenn High seems to be playing the 'one step forward, two steps back' game as the Eagles went from 11 wins in head coach Daniel Reyes' first season to one win, then to nine wins and back to four victories last season. Glenn won just three sets in league action and went 3-2 last September. But making matters worse for Reyes is the fact that seven of the 11 players from last season's team graduated.

"It definitely does feel as though the program is in that type of situation," said Reyes. "With the school's low [enrollment] numbers, it makes our pool of students to "select" a lot smaller than other schools. On top of that, it feels as though it can be a tricky situation to get athletes to completely buy in to what's necessary to stay competitive as a program, as well as their support systems at home. They tend to be thrown into a situation where they are needed to help out with their families in other ways, which prevents them from being 'all in' and it can make things harder to grow as a team."

With four wins last season, it was hard for Reyes to find many positives as he had to pull up several players from the junior varsity team expecting to contribute right away, in his words. But they lacked experience, which showed throughout the season. With that said, he added that it helped the juniors start to slowly get a feel for the speed of the game and gave them some drive to not have a repeat performance this season.

Only senior setter Evelyn Gonzalez, senior outside hitter Sugey Mancilla, junior outside hitter Valeria Mejia and junior middle blocker Abigail Salaiza return, and Reyes said all of them have improved in certain aspects of their game. Gonzalez transitioned from a libero to a setter last year and now is more comfortable the offense. Mancilla has been doing well this past offseason as a passer and is hitting more consistently with confidence and Mejia has improved her court usage and placing the ball in different areas of the court.

Senior opposite hitter/middle blocker Erin Perez and sophomore middle blocker Arydai Castro are Glenn's top varsity newcomers and Reyes says they will help in the blocking department.

"We've continuously been a program that lacks height, and the height we've come across, typically have struggled," he continued. "Thee two are very understanding and constantly are wanting to improve."

Glenn won three of its first five matches last season and entering this week, have half of last season's win production. For the Eagles to continue winning, Reyes said they will go as far as the offense takes them, as well as their mentality.

"Year in and year out, we've always struggled as a hitting team," he said. "It always felt as though 90 percent of our offense resulted in us either giving other teams a free ball, or our own hitting errors. If we can be more consistent with hitting, it will help us stay in games a lot more than we did last year. I try to constantly push our girls to thrive for adversity. I want to know how they will respond when they're faced with adversity. If they can maintain their composure and keep focus, then it will be huge for us."

LA MIRADA MATADORES

19-11 overall last season, 5-3 in the Gateway League, second place, lost to Tarbot V' Torah High in five sets in the Division 6 second round playoffs.

64-73 overall last five seasons Head coach: Kimberly Mahan (fourth season, 48-40)

Last time missed the playoffs: 2018
La Mirada High's first season in the Gateway League was what head coach Kimberly Mahan thought it would be as the Matadores were in eight tough battles.
Two were sweeps by Downey High and Warren High, one was a thrilling five-set win against Gahr and the rest were decided in four sets. She said the new league for the program was what she expected and anticipated and thought it would be more competitive for her team, which it was

"I never felt like we could just go out and dominate any team," said Mahan.

"We always had to keep working hard."

The Matadores will be stocked this season with nine seniors from a squad of 13 players. Of those 13 players, half a dozen are returning, and none is bigger, literally, than senior middle blocker Natalie Ojeisekhoba. The 6'2" standout was three kills shy of 200 last season and led the team with 53 blocks. But Mahan is quick to say that the team is not about Ojeisekhoba as senior middle blocker Maleah Diaz is 'also a very strong hitter'. They are the strongest hitters on the team and Mahan says the team is working on having great passes in serve receive and on defense so they can run the middles.

Mahan's daughter, Kiersten, is the setter and will be joined in an ideal starting lineup with the two aforementioned middle blockers, junior outside hitters Kaitlyn Singh and sophomore Ahri Grayson, senior opposite hitter Geraldine Aiono and senior libero Angelyna Conde. Seniors Iyleen Garcia and Selina Haile are expected to be the defensive specialists.

Because of a sprained ankle that will sideline her for three weeks, sophomore Keliana Gonzalez is an outside hitter who would have been a starter. Expect her to be another presence when she returns to the court.

With the addition of Norwalk to the league, it's anybody's ballgame when it comes to who will finish first, second, third, fourth or fifth.

"I think the Gateway League is still going to be strong and competitive," said Kimberly Mahan. "[Norwalk head coach] Paola Nava has done great at improving the Norwalk program. Gahr and Downey always have strong teams and Warren is still going to be very strong with their two sophomore hitters."

NORWALK LANCERS

24-12 overall last season, 9-1 in the Mid-Cities League, tied for first place, lost to Loma Linda Academy in five sets in the Division 7 quarterfinals.

56-68 overall last five seasons Head coach: Paola Nava (fourth season, 43-34)

Last time missed the playoffs: 2021
After improving from a tie for third place to co-league champions in the Mid-Cities League in the first two years of the Suburban Valley Conference, Norwalk is taking it to the next level, having been promoted to the Gateway League. That should not be a problem for head coach Paola Nava and the Lancers, who had their best season in the program's history.
Norwalk returns 11 of the 13 players who were on the roster when it was bounced out in the playoffs.

"It was extremely special, especially living in Norwalk, going to Norwalk High School and then being their coach for the last five years," said Nava of last season. "I think it's something that these girls truly deserved. They worked hard; they knew they had it in them. As coaches, we knew they had it in them and it was something to prove to themselves and show that all their hard work actually paid off."

The Lancers, who once again will play all their matches on the road except for the four league matches, which will be played at the Norwalk Arts and Sports Complex, have more than enough talent to duplicate the success of last season. Five players graduated, but half the players on this season's team are seniors with four juniors and a trio of sophomores. Three of the 14 players-senior middle blocker Aleyah Davis, junior outside hitter Giselle Salazar and junior defensive specialist/ libero Nayeli Sanchez-were called up for the playoffs, giving the Lancers that extra varsity experience of playing against playoff-type teams.

"With the girls that were brought up from our junior varsity team into our playoff run, they really saw and felt emotionally and physically the happiness and sadness when it came down to losing in the quarterfinals," said Nava. "They don't want to feel that again. They really want to push past what we did last year and with the large experience of players that we have, I think pieces are easier to move

The Lancers are built around two players, one who is in her third varsity season and the other who had a fantastic freshman campaign. Senior middle blocker/outside hitter Samantha Munoz, who stands at 5'11", led the Lancers with 189 kills last season and had 55 blocks while 6'1" sophomore outside hitter/middle blocker Mirei Sanchez led the team with a .318 hitting percentage and was second in kills (169) and blocks (42).

But make no mistake, there's more to the team than Munoz and Mirei Sanchez. Flying under the radar last season to be huge contributors were senior opposite hitter/middle blocker Brenda Quezada, senior setter Zaidee Zapeda and junior defensive specialist/libero Ashley Castaneda, Nava plans to run a 5-1 offense with Zepeda as the setter, Quezada and Mirei Sanchez as the two outside hitters, Davis and Munoz as the two middle blockers, senior Diana Avina as the opposite hitter on the right side and Castaneda as the libero in the middle.

"I want to say Zaidee, Ashley and Brenda are our ideal team players that everyone would want on a team," said Nava. "Zaidee tries to take charge of her team and I think that's carried into Brenda and Ashley's mentality, and they see that."

Sophomores Nataly Felix, a defensive specialist and outside hitter, and Madeline Gutierrez, a setter, whom Nava says has a great work ethic, are two newcomers to the squad. But even with a stacked team, if the Lancers are to win the Gateway League this season, they will have earned it more given the competition that awaits them.

"It's something I've been looking forward to as a coach," said Nava. "I know [assistant] coach Enrique [Galicia] has been looking forward to it [as well]. It's something we've been preaching to the girls. Last season was last season; it's in the past. We're coming up to a brand new league; we're coming into new territory and these teams are going to want to beat us."

VALLEY CHRISTIAN DEFENDERS

17-11 overall last season, 6-2 in the Olympic League, second place, lost to Capistrano Valley Christian in three sets in the Division 4 quarterfinals.

99-58 overall last five seasons Head coach: Stacy Brannon (first season)

Last time missed the playoffs: 2009
A key component in the middle blocker position who guided Valley Christian High to the 1998 USA Today National Championship is now taking over this storied program as Stacy Brannon (Rouwenhorst) becomes the third head coach in as many seasons. Brannon, who later starred
